Georgia Army National Guard – Brigadier General Maria Britt commands the more than 11,000 men and women who comprise the force of the Georgia Army National Guard. The National Guard is America's oldest armed force—dating back to 1636—and the only branch that serves both the Federal and State governments. The Guard answers to both the president of the United States and the governors of their respective states and territories. This means that the National Guard can be mobilized any time natural disasters or other emergencies occur within America's borders, and also serve alongside U.S. combat forces in other parts of the world. Our missions range from combat infantry to engineering. For information on the Benefits and Career Opportunities of joining the Army National Guard, visit our booth space at the career fair or call (678) 205-6584. Career Opportunities: Engineers, Officer, Enlistment, Warrant Officer, Judge Advocate General, Chaplain, Medical Careers

Georgia Department of Labor - The Georgia Department of Labor provides a wide range of services to job seekers and employers. These include administration of Georgia's unemployment insurance, employment service, and vocational rehabilitation programs; provision of workforce information to the public and private sectors; inspection of boilers, pressure vessels, amusement park and carnival rides; and oversight of child labor issues. The Department of Labor is the state agency designated by the governor to lead the state's implementation of the Workforce Investment Act of 1998. www.dol.state.ga.us.

Internal Revenue Service (IRS) - U.S. Citizenship Required for Consideration. If you are deciding what kind of career you want to build, consider one that supports your country. Here at the IRS, you'll be part of a tax-collection process funding our nation's most vital programs. It takes a wide variety of bright, dedicated people working in many different career fields to accomplish this task. The IRS offers opportunities for people with diverse backgrounds and experience. In fact, there's much more to the IRS than tax collection. Not only do we have a rich history reflecting events that have shaped the nation, we also have an eye on a future that can impact you and your career. At the IRS, our employees can use their talents and apply them to real-world challenges. We also provide employees with the training they need to excel. All of this is done in service to the country you love, which makes the IRS a great place to begin and build a career.
